

Sima Fishman, Managing Director, Euroconsult USA

Sima Fishman is the Managing Director of Euroconsult USA, based in Washington D.C. With 25 years' experience in strategy consulting to telecommunications and infrastructure industries, she has spent the past six focused on satellite and space markets. She specializes in financial feasibility and modelling, due diligence, and strategy consulting.

Before joining Euroconsult, Sima was an Engagement Manager for Avascent and the Director of Strategy Consulting for Futron, where she was responsible for all strategy consulting projects, including due diligence, feasibility analyses, organic and inorganic growth strategy, market forecasting, and expert witness testimony. She has a long background in strategy and public sector consulting from several boutique consultancies as well as management consulting experience with Price Waterhouse and PricewaterhouseCoopers. Sima also served as a Director in the Finance division at RCN, a cable television and telecommunications provider. Her earliest professional experience was as an Economist for Wharton Econometric Forecasting Associates.

Sima holds an MBA from Duke University's Fuqua School of Business and a BA in Mathematical Economics from Temple University.